

Dementia at end of life

Online information session

SMRPCC presents a special online session as part of our Trending Sessions.

Dr Aaron Wong, Clinical Director of Supportive and Palliative Care at Eastern Health, will talk about:

- principles and strategies to assist us in caring for people living with dementia at the end of their lives.

Dr Wong's roles as the Medical Lead for the RMH Residential InReach Service, Geriatric Evaluation and Management Clinic, RAPID Assist Palliative Care Service, Palliative Care@Home program and the Austin Palliative Care Clinic have involved providing care and support for people living with dementia and their caregivers.

Aaron is passionate about holistic compassionate care of older people and optimising quality of life across the continuum of illness. His interests include improving the quality of palliative care in aged care and interdisciplinary education. He has led several collaborative geriatric/palliative care quality improvement projects including models of care redesign.
